

Concentrated Purees Developed To Your Precise Standards

We know that your customers are looking for the best products from you. We can provide that solution that will make your concept successful.

Flavors From Florida produces the highest quality fruit purees in accordance with the FDA Standard of Identity. We can offer you our years of experience in tested systems and complete access to our research and development laboratories for custom development. Finding the right trade off between flavor, performance and stability is a collaborative process and can be done quickly and with surprising results.

Typical Applications

- Sherbets, Sorbets and Ices
- Bakery and Confectionary

We have hundreds of excellent performing formulas to get started quickly. We can work with your base application or we can provide one to use during development.

FRUIT PUREE BASES

This is just an example of the extra services we provide to help make you more successful with your launches.

The emerging trends in the sherbet and sorbet space are the increased use of exotic flavors and blends as well as production swirling.

Something we are excited about is the recent crossovers that are possible between fruit drinks, frozen desserts and novelties. Do you currently have a great sorbet that your customers love? How about a novelty bar with the same great taste profile! Or a fruit drink version of a successful sherbet product? The possibilities are endless.

When you are ready to go to production, we will work with your production team to tune the concentration and packaging of the final puree base for your batch sizes and plant operations.

Once we have found the right system to give you the finished product you are looking for, we'll be able to support your trial tests with any quantities you need.

"Fuller" Full Service

Most flavor houses would stop there. Flavors From Florida can provide additional research for your product if you need it. We follow the consumer markets very closely and can give you our point of view on potential competition and current trends in your segment and geography, customized for you.

Call Today!